WEDNESDAY CLASSES

MUSIC OF GREAT COMPOSERS: BEAUTIFUL, POWERFUL, INSPIRING (214)

Wednesdays, 1:00 – 2:30, (3 Classes 1/28 – 2/11) in Rm 19	Tuition $35
---	---------------------

Walk- in Friendly, $14. Pay prior to the class in the Center 4Life Learning office.

We all know music we like. This is usually why we decide to go to a particular concert: to hear the melodies and harmonies and rhythms we have come to love. This course will explore some of the techniques and methods composers use. We will see video recordings of great orchestras performing famous works while a “guided tour” is provided of what is happening in the music as it is being played. For example, we all know the most famous 4 notes of classical music: the beginning of Beethoven’s 5th symphony. But did you know that Beethoven used these 4 notes and rhythms in each of the 4 movements of his 5th symphony to create other beautiful and stirring themes but in different even disguised ways? You will hear Beethoven’s 5th symphony (being performed by the Sarasota orchestra this March), Bach’s spectacular Toccata and Fugue in D minor—what is a toccata? what is a fugue? You will also hear throughout the beautiful and stirring music of West Side Story how Leonard Bernstein used a musical interval literally banned by the church for many years because the interval was deemed too discordant. Come and learn about the lives and some music of three great composers.

Bill Smith is a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Music. Has performed in operas and plays in the Cleveland area and has conducted several choirs. Has sung for years in the 100-member Key Chorale, the symphonic chorale of Sarasota—and sang in the Chorale’s smaller chamber chorus. Bill wrote the program notes for many concerts performed by the Chorale discussing the lives of the composers and analyzing the great works being performed. A few of the choral works Bill has sung are: Bach’s Magnificat in D; Mozart’s Requiem, Hayden’s The Creation; Handel’s Messiah, Beethoven’s 9th; and Bloch’s Sacred Service.

HIGH ALTITUDE RECONNAISSANCE DURING THE COLD WAR (218)

Wednesday, 1:00 – 2:30, (1 Classes, 2/25) in Room 19	Tuition $17
--	---------------------

Tom Barrett will give a presentation on “High Altitude Reconnaissance During the Cold War.” During three of the twenty-two years he served in the United States Air Force, he was a high-altitude reconnaissance pilot who participated in some of the USAF’s most secretive photographic and nuclear sampling reconnaissance flights. Few aviation enthusiasts know about the aircraft he flew. Built in 1964 to replace U-2A and B models, this General Dynamics 122’ wingspan RB-57F aircraft was designed to carry a pilot, systems operator and the world’s largest camera. It was the size of a VW, weighed almost 6,000 pounds and could produce detailed photographs of objects fifty miles away while flying above 70,000 feet. Twenty-one of the aircraft were built by General Dynamics. To minimize public speculation and maintain secrecy, the aircraft were never painted black and were given the same designation as an existing aircraft the 65’ wingspan Martin B-57.

Especially interesting are the missions flown taking samples of nuclear detonation “mushroom clouds” throughout the world. Please note that at night “Tom may glow in the dark.”

Tom Barrett, USAF Retired, was the (Oshkosh WI) Experimental Aircraft Associations (EAA) museum / flight operations director from 1995 – 2000. His previous appointment was six years as Associate Professor and Director of the Business Management Program at Ripon College in Wisconsin. That academic career followed a nine-year contract position as Transportation Services Division Manager for SDI “Star Wars” research at Kwajalein Missile Range in the Marshall Islands. During a twenty-two-year Air Force career, he logged over 10,000 flight hours including 541 combat missions over North and South Vietnam. His UC-123 aircraft encountered sixty-seven hits by ground fire including eighteen hits on the mission which earned him the Distinguished Flying Cross. Tom also served in several key USAF staff positions including Director of Cadet Wing Operations at the United States Air Force Academy. A graduate of the University of Nebraska with a degree in Geopolitics, Tom also holds a master’s degree in public administration from Auburn University. He has published studies of third world economic development and authored "Wants-N-Tides," a book of poetry reviewed by The Washington Post. One of his works has become a classical choral work performed in concert halls. youtube.com/watch?v=Gjutt-c8efw

Tom and his wife Lynn (glider pilot /sailor /former USAF RN) live in Ruskin, FL. They spend their summers in Ludington, MI. They are lifelong sailors and completed a five year five-thousand-mile voyage on their 35' sailboat 2003-2008. Now that "age has set upon them (87/79) they frequently travel in their RV most recently to Alaska and the Canadian Maritimes. Their son Ian is an Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University graduate and Delta Airlines Captain based in Minneapolis. Their daughter Jen is an archeologist living with her husband in Scotland.

Carmen Menendez was born in Havana, Cuba, immigrated with parents and siblings to the United States at the age of 7. Her first language was Spanish but after immigrating at such a young age, quickly became fluent in English as well. Her parents always ensured she and her siblings grew up knowing their culture and traditions, and especially their language; Spanish was always spoken in their home. Prior to moving to Florida, the family's first 8 years in the United States were in the small town of Newton, N.J., where there was a very small Hispanic community of which most were relatives. Her parents were determined that they would be bilingual and know their culture, something that Carmen has been very thankful for. As a result, Carmen is fluent in both Spanish and English and, as an adult, raised her three sons to be bilingual and to value their culture.

Being bilingual has helped Carmen serve many communities during her career life. Early on, while living in Silver Spring, Maryland, she had the opportunity to serve the migrant community as a backup teacher for the ESOL program (English for Speakers of other Languages). While living in Western North Carolina, she worked with the County Social Service Agency and worked with migrant worker families. She translated for the many services and programs available to them. Carmen often served as a court translator. She taught conversational Spanish classes in her church, hosted, and translated for the missionary guests. Returning to Florida in 2000, Carmen was employed with the State of Florida, where she recently retired after 25 years. After retiring, Carmen joined the Hope Fund and currently provides after school tutoring one day a week at the Wimauma Migrant Academy.

THE ADAMS FAMILY: A MULTIGENERATIONAL LEGACY OF PUBLIC SERVICE (213)

Fridays, 1:00 – 2:30 (3 Classes 2/13 – 2/27) in Room 19

Tuition $35

Walk-in Friendly, $14. Pay prior to the class in the Center 4Life Learning office.

- Session 1: Describes the Contributions of cousins Samuel and John Adam to making the American Revolution happen. Sam was the firebrand and propagandist. Together they attend the First Constitutional convention, but with help from his cousin, John rises to leader of the American Independence movement
- Session 2: This will not be a lecture, but rather an interview of and conversation in depth with John Quincy Adams, oldest son of John and Abigail, and, like his father, a one-term President. Asking the questions will be Dan Madden, portraying noted newspaper editor, Amos Kendall, a strong supporter of Andrew Jackson. Richard Werking, Emeritus Professor of History at the U.S. Naval Academy, who has lectured several times at the Center, will portray Adams, Jackson's opponent in the elections of 1824 and 1828. Considerable attention will be given to the first of these elections, one of the two in American history decided by the House of Representatives and unique because no candidate could muster a majority of the electoral votes. Adams, defeated by Jackson in the rematch of 1828, will go on to discuss his post-Presidential career as the only U.S. President to serve subsequently in Congress, which he did for the rest of his life. He became the leading Congressional opponent of slavery's expansion into the territories and played the leading role in the famous Amistad case. He had a rich and interesting life and is likely the only individual in history to have had substantive conversations about policy with both George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. He died in 1848 literally in the Capitol building."
